

Structural Surveys

We offer assessment services to the built environment to assist structural engineers, project managers and architects.

The structural survey work that we undertake is predominantly to provide our clients with structural as-built drawings for existing structures to enable the accurate design / costing and of any redevelopment and refurbishment works. Our dedicated team including chartered engineers can provide accurate and concise information in the form of AutoCAD drawings to enable the design process to continue with a comprehensive knowledge of the structure.

These services can be carried out in conjunction with our condition survey work to provide a comprehensive appraisal of the structural condition and detailing of any structure.
