

POLICY ON THE CONSTRUCTION (DESIGN & MANAGEMENT) REGULATIONS 2007

Ian Farmer Associates will manage all of its undertakings, operations, premises, plant and equipment to ensure, so far as is reasonably practicable, the Health and Safety of its employees, customers, the public and others who may be affected by its activities.

The Construction (Design & Management) Regulations are intended to protect the health and safety of people working in construction, and others who may be affected by their activities, through a systematic management approach from concept to completion. The Regulations also encourage the integration of health and safety into project management.

Ian Farmer Associates is committed to complying with these regulations by the creation of a positive culture, which secures involvement and participation at all levels.

Ian Farmer Associates will ensure that where required under the Construction (Design and Management) Regulations 2007, a suitable construction phase health and safety plan is prepared before construction begins and that the plan is implemented and kept up to date as the project progresses.

Ian Farmer Associates will ensure safe working practices are followed on site; restricting entry to the site to authorised people; that site rules are enforced; that all workers receive site induction training, covering site rules and have adequate information and training to carry out their duties.

Ian Farmer Associates will ensure that the workforce is consulted about health and safety matters; workers inform us of any defects or concerns associated with any systems of work which we provide; safety monitoring procedures are established; the health and safety performance of everyone on site is regularly reviewed.
